DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group I, claim(s) 1-4 (in part), drawn to method of treating bacterial infections by administering a compound defined by formula (IA), wherein X is S, R1 is a groups with a thienyl or a furyl moiety; one of R2 and R3 is a group with phenyl moiety, and the other one is hydrogen or C1-3 alkyl.

Group II, claim(s) 1-4 (in part), drawn to method of treating bacterial infections by administering a compound defined by formula (IA), wherein X is O, R1 is a groups with a thienyl or a furyl moiety; one of R2 and R3 is a group with phenyl moiety, and the other one is hydrogen or C1-3 alkyl.

Group III, claim(s) 1-4 (in part), drawn to method of treating bacterial infections by administering a compound defined by formula (IA), wherein X is S, R1 is a groups with a six-membered aromatic ring moiety; one of R2 and R3 is a group with phenyl moiety, and the other one is hydrogen or C1-3 alkyl.

Group IV, claim(s) 1-4 (in part), drawn to method of treating bacterial infections by administering a compound defined by formula (IA), wherein X is O, R1 is a groups with a six-membered aromatic ring moiety; one of R2 and R3 is a group with phenyl moiety, and the other one is hydrogen or C1-3 alkyl.

Group V, claim(s) 1-4 (in part), drawn to method of treating bacterial infections by administering a compound defined by formula (IA), wherein X is S, R1 and R2 are not those defined in groups I and III.

Group VI, claim(s) 1-4 (in part), drawn to method of treating bacterial infections by administering a compound defined by formula (IA), wherein X is O, R1 and R2 are not those defined in groups I and III.

The inventions listed as Groups I-VI do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: the compounds employed in the above groups are independent and distinct each from the others as they possess structurally distinct features and have acquired a separate status in the art of compounds and therapeutic agents as a separate subject matter for inventive effect and require independent searches. Applicant's attention is directed to US 7,304,082, which claims very specific triazole compounds. It is noted that a reference to one triazoles herein would not be a reference to another under 35 U.S.C. 103. Further, since the claims are directed to a method for broadly treatment of bacterial infection, 112 issues may arise depending on the compounds in the claims.

2. Restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper because all these inventions listed in this action are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and there would be a serious search and examination burden if restriction were not required because one or more of the following reasons apply:

- (a) the inventions have acquired a separate status in the art in view of their different classification;
- (b) the inventions have acquired a separate status in the art due to their recognized divergent subject matter;
- (c) the inventions require a different field of search (for example, searching different classes/subclasses or electronic resources, or employing different search queries);
- (d) the prior art applicable to one invention would not likely be applicable to another invention;
- (e) the inventions are likely to raise different non-prior art issues under 35 U.S.C. 101 and/or 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a invention to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse. Traversal must be presented at the time of election in order to be considered timely. Failure to timely traverse the requirement will result in the loss of right to petition under 37 CFR 1.144. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which of these claims are readable on the elected invention.

If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which of these claims are readable upon the elected invention.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.
